LongHash Ventures welcomes PwC Singapore as knowledge partner

Singapore, 7 December 2020 – Today, LongHash Ventures welcomes PwC Singapore's Venture Hub as knowledge partner. This collaboration will give the global blockchain accelerator's network of startups access to PwC Singapore's solutions and expertise to grow the blockchain ecosystem and help build on the potential of these startups.

"Since the introduction of blockchain, we have seen a rise in the number of innovative blockchain solutions. We are excited to work with LongHash Ventures and its network to build greater trust through blockchain and help solidify Singapore's position as a global FinTech hub," says Wanyi Wong, FinTech leader at PwC Singapore.

As LongHash Ventures' knowledge partner, PwC Singapore will provide consultation clinics for LongHash Ventures' portfolio of startups covering business issues such as accounting, tax, regulations, corporate governance, strategy and fundraising.

Emma Cui, Chief Executive Officer at LongHash Ventures, added, "Blockchain will rewire the architecture for the finance world, and we are thrilled to partner with PwC to continue expanding this thriving ecosystem. We are dedicated to supporting and spurring this growth as blockchain plays an increasingly important role in Singapore's future as a center for the next generation of digital finance."
