Singapore, Thursday 22 June 2017 – PwC Legal International Pte Ltd (a licensed Foreign Law Practice) welcomes two new partners – Carl Dunton and Henry Goodwin - in response to rising market demand for cross-territory integrated business solutions.

Carl specialises in Asian cross-border financings and financial restructurings, with extensive experience in both secured and unsecured transactions throughout South East Asia. Due to his extensive experience in restructuring, Carl is well-versed in distressed M&A transactions, forced disposals, enforcement scenario and strategies and the related litigation aspects. Carl is consistently recognised as a leading lawyer for both banking & finance, and restructuring & insolvency by leading independent legal directories including Chambers Asia, Legal 500 Asia and IFLR 1000.

Henry specialises in advising multinational companies in the digital and technology sectors on legal aspects of their market entry strategies in Southeast Asia, including cross-border investments, strategic alliances and commercial licensing opportunities. He also has extensive experience supporting venture capital funds and their high growth portfolio companies as they scale their operations in the region. Henry previously led the Singapore practice of an international law firm.

Commenting on the addition of the new partners Tim Blue, PwC Legal's Asia Foreign Legal Practice Leader said:

"I am delighted to welcome Carl and Henry to our legal network, joining Keith McGuire and Natalie Breen in Singapore as founding members of the licensed foreign law practice PwC Legal International Pte Ltd. The growth of our business is reflective of the rising market demand we are seeing in Asia and elsewhere for cross-territory integrated business solutions. I am confident that their extensive experience and expertise will further enhance the value we strive to bring to new and existing clients of the PwC network of firms."

PwC Legal International Pte Ltd (a licensed Foreign Law Practice) focuses on cross-border regional transactions and projects. In cases where the practice of local law is necessary, PwC will continue to work with Camford Law (an independent local law firm within the PwC network) and other local Singapore law firms.
