Singapore, 1 July 2019 – PwC is delighted to welcome twelve new partners to our partnership in Singapore. We are also pleased to further strengthen our gender diversity as seven of our twelve new partners are female.

As Singapore takes on a greater role on the global economic stage, the diverse and international experience of these 12 new partners will strengthen the firm’s capabilities as a trusted business advisor to help organisations understand the environment they are in and prepare them to be fit for the future. Bringing with them experience from across the world – close to home in Southeast Asia and Asia Pacific to the west in US and Europe - these new partners are well-equipped to help our clients address the increasing complexities that come with today’s globally connected environment.

Yeoh Oon Jin, Executive Chairman, PwC Singapore on the new appointments:

“I am excited to welcome our new partners, and congratulate them on achieving this career milestone. This group of partners are diverse across many dimensions – gender, background, skillset and international experience. I am confident that they will serve to strengthen our ability to address the rapidly evolving needs and challenges of our clients doing business in today’s complex world.”
